CURES MADE BY PROFESSOR O. P. BROWN'S BLOOD PURIFIER.

RHEUMATISM OF THE JOINTS.—Mr. Ebenezer Brown writes:—"I have great pleasure in informing you that I am permanently cured from an attack of rheumatism of the joints through the use of your Blood Purifier, Herbal Ointment and Renovating Pills. I have not used any for the last four months, and must say I feel as well as I ever did in my life."
RHEUMATIC FEVER.—Mrs. Priscilla Jones, of South Wales, writes:—"My stepson, Harry W. Harding, was seized with rheumatic fever very violently; he was in pain all over from head to foot, and inflammation set in in all his joints, and they were swollen to an enormous size; he could not bear to be touched. I used your Herbal Ointment freely, giving him the Blood Purifier and Pills as directed. He was quite cured in a fortnight.

REAL AMERICAN
"SQUEEZER" PLAYING CARDS,

Best quality, of the strongest material, and being highly finished on both sides, they slip readily when handled.

An important feature is that by reference to the "INDICATORS" in the corners all chance of making a mistake in the hand is avoided, as such "Indicators" show the Suit and Size. This allows of the hand being compressed into a very small space, and hence the name "SQUEEZERS." The "Indicators" are in addition to the ordinary pipes made to run both ways.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

THURSDAY EVENING, JAN. 8, 1880.

CONSOLS in London yesterday advanced from 97¼ to ⅜, but French Rentes receded from 117 to 116¾, and Enfaced Rupee Paper Fours-and-a-half declined from 85¼ to 85⅛, while Fours were unchanged at 77¾.

The London Money market continues to show increased ease, the rate of discount in the open market being again quoted ½ per cent. lower, at 2 per cent. on 3 months' and 2¼ per cent. on 4 months' bills.

In the London General Produce markets Coffee is steady at previous prices; Ceylon Cocoanut Oil 10s. per ton lower, Cochin unchanged. Seeds are unaltered, with the exception of Calcutta Rapeseed, which is given 3d. to 1s. per quarter lower. Indian Wheat, to arrive, is 6d. to 1s. per quarter easier.

The Manchester Piece Goods market is still reported as strong, and private advices state that for some makes it is difficult to make contracts, producers being well engaged. Reuter's statement of the shipments from the U. K. for the month of December shows comparatively large supplies of all kinds, both for Calcutta and Bombay.

COTTON in Liverpool yesterday, according to Reuter, closed strong, the day's sales being estimated at 15,000 bales, of which 800 were Surats. Spot prices were unchanged, and nothing is said as to arrivals; but private messages give the tone of the market at the close as dull and declining, with a drop of 1-16d. in arrival, both Americans and Surats. In New York ready Mid. Uplands is still quoted at 12¼ cents, but April shipment has receded from 13.67 to 13·57 cents. The Receipts at the ports to date give the following comparisons:—

	1880	1879	1878
Wednesday's Receipts.....	20,000	14,000	17,000
Five days' Do.	98,000	77,000	93,000
Total since 1st Sept	3,259,000	2,788,000	2,602,000

At the weekly biddings for Council drafts on India in London yesterday, of the 40 lacs offered, Rs. 27,80,000 were allotted on Calcutta and Rs. 12,20,000 on Bombay at an average of 1s. 3½d., tenders at which received 69¼ per cent. As compared with last week's biddings this shows a slight diminution in the demand for remittance to this side, but the difference is not sufficient to exercise any influence on Silver which is quoted still at 52½d. to 52 7-16d. per oz.

EXCHANGE this morning opened a trifle firmer, the Banks showing more disposition to sell than buy, and in the course of the day an advance of 1-32d. has been established. The market does not appear particularly strong at the advance, but at the same time a feeling prevails that we have about seen the lowest point for the time being, and should export business show any activity a rise in rates would almost certainly follow. Closing quotations are:—

Bank Bills, on demand	1s. 8 3-16d.	per Rupee
Do. 3 months' sight....	1s. 8 5-16d.	,,
Credits 3 ,, ,, ...	1s. 8 15-32d.	,,
Documents 3 ,, ,, ...	1s. 8 17-32d.	,,
Francs 3 ,, ,, ...	2·15½	,,

On Calcutta we quote demand drafts at 1-16 per cent. premium, although a cross transaction is said to have been worked on the basis of ⅛ per cent. premium. For 60 days' sight we still quote ¼ per cent. discount.

GOVERNMENT PAPER is very steady, but we have not heard of any business of moment. The closing rates reported are:—Fours, Rs. 92½; Fours-and-a-half, Rs. 101¼.

In SHARES transactions are still few and nothing of a speculative character is apparent. Bank of Bombays are ½ per cent. firmer at Rs. 696½. In Land and Press Companies there is no change, and in Spinning and Weaving Companies' shares we have only to notice a decline of Rs. 5 in Bombay United and Dhurrumsey. Landing and Shipping Co. of Kurrachee are Rs. 15 higher.

COTTON to-day has been stagnant. Reuter's telegram coming strong has prevented sellers reducing their prices to any material extent; while buyers, influenced by their own quieter advices, have refrained from operating. Practically we should call the market Re. 1 per candy easier, but it will require another day's slack advices from home to confirm this.

SEEDS are quiet at generally previous prices.

FREIGHTS have been quieter all round, although rates have not quotably declined. For Liverpool we still quote 40s. to 35s. per ton according to time of shipment, and for Marseilles and Genoa, and Trieste and Venice, 45s., payable here, remains the current quotation.

PIECE GOODS.—In the bazaar a steady enquiry prevails from up-country buyers at previous rates, but clearances have been comparatively moderate, as dealers, influenced by the stronger accounts from Manchester, have generally been asking an advance of ¼ anna to 1 anna per piece. To arrive transactions continue comparatively limited.

IN COALS to-day the only sale reported to arrive is a cargo of Davison's West Hartley by steamer at Rs. 18 per ton alongside. There are still buyers at this price, but few if any sellers.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 9, 1880.

NOTHING can be truer than that passage in Mr. Gladstone's speech at Glasgow on Indian politics, that "unless an effectual attention be "given to that portion of Her Majesty's domi- "nions by others than those who are in the direc- "tion of affairs, the greatest danger overhangs our "connection with India." There is no doubt also a great deal of truth as well as sounding claptrap in what Dr. Hunter says, that "British "officers in India are neither Whigs nor "Tories, but simply a body of administrators "doing their best to govern an Asiatic country "without reference to European politics and in "the interests of the people themselves." But India is not governed in the last resort by Indian administrators, but by party leaders in England with direct reference to European politics; and, as Mr. Gladstone says, unless the people at home take an interest in Indian matters and resolutely withstand the tendency to make political and party capital out of India, there will be, as he predicts, "the "failure of the most arduous and perhaps the "noblest trust that ever was undertaken by a "nation." The time has come which was predicted during the discussion of the Act which made over India from the Company to the Crown—India is made use of as a factor in party manœuvres, and as a weapon in European politics. The speech of Mr. Gladstone himself might be used by the cynical to show that the practice has become recognised, and the advantages to be derived from following it are too great for even the most virtuous of party leaders to willingly forego them. The faults and failings of the Government in dealing with India furnished the gifted orator with the materials for perhaps his most telling impeachment of Lord Beaconsfield's administration. He charged the Government with meanness in its dealings with Afghanistan, with following a policy which he characterised as shabby and dastardly, inasmuch as the Afghans, and not the Russians, were its objects and its victims. The epithets may be deserved, but Mr. Gladstone is the last man who should have taunted the Government with having failed to take decisive action against the Russians, for he, more than all the rest of the Liberal party together, tied Lord Beaconsfield's hands and hampered his policy in resisting the designs of Russian ambition in the East. The Conservative Government is open to grave reproach for its halting and hesitating policy in face of the real enemy during the last two years, but it is not for Mr. Gladstone to speak of their "meanness" in doing too little, when he laboured with so much zeal to constrain them to do less. And it is curious to note how the great party leader, in fixing upon Sir Henry Rawlinson and Sir Bartle Frere the responsibility of advising and supporting the policy of aggression with regard to Afghanistan, makes it his chief allegation against them that "neither one nor the other of them had "ever imbibed from actual acquaintance with "British institutions the spirit by which British "Government ought to be regulated and con- "trolled"—in other words, that they had not been bred up in the atmosphere of English party conflict. They were, owing to that misfortune, chargeable, in his opinion, with a readiness "to take into their own hands the choice "of means in a manner which those conversant "with free government and with responsible "government never dream of." This charge—if serious and pressed home in all cases—would check the initiative and fatally cramp the action of the whole heirarchy of European administrators, upon whose initiative and upon whose action the welfare and progress of India chiefly depend. It is plain that the danger that India may become a theme for party declaimers in England is by no means remote. And as we know there is something more mischievous than even party eloquence to be apprehended. Last year the cotton duties were given up when the finances of the country could not bear the sacrifice, and however that measure may have been defended as the logical outcome of free trade principles, it is impossible to doubt that the exigencies of party warfare had more to do with it than that singular abhorrence of Protectionist fallacies which the old Protectionist party now universally entertains.

The real safeguard against the inconvenience and the evils of this growing disposition to turn India to account in the struggles of parties in England is that attention should be given to Indian affairs by those who do not see everything through party spectacles. We are therefore more inclined to approve the tone of Mr. Gladstone's Glasgow speech on Indian affairs than to dwell upon the fact that it was itself in many respects a party speech, or to call attention to a few inaccuracies such as the supposed necessity of fire-arms for killing snakes. His charges against the present Government of withdrawing the freedom of the Press which India had enjoyed and had not really abused for half a century, by an Act passed hastily without any public discussion, or previous notice; of imposing taxation under the most solemn pledges for famine relief, and then using it for the general purposes of government; of increasing the indebtedness of India by a sum which he put at six millions, but which, if the depletion of the Treasury balances be taken into account, amounts to ten millions; all these have our sympathy. India must realize that she is an integral part of the Empire, but nothing should be done to lead her to believe that the Empire has shifted from its old foundations of free press as well as free speech, of good faith as well as good will. The people of India must be educated to take an interest in the affairs of India, if this country is to be governed and taxed in such a way as to make it a contented and useful portion of the Empire. After so many years of deficit we have reached a financially prosperous year, and could have shown a handsome surplus, but unfortunately all is swallowed up in defending the interests of the Empire against Russia in the war with the Afghans—a debt which India alone should not be called upon to liquidate. There is fortunately good reason to believe that these heavy war expenses can this year be met without increasing India's debt, for the revenue promises to be exceptionally large. But the political and military blunder of putting the whole burden of this Afghan war upon the Indian Treasury is none the less manifest. If Lord Lytton were to say out what is the real truth he could make a much better defence of the action of the Government in leaving General Roberts at Kabul with a force which had to retire into its camp at the first coming of the incensed Afghans, than that which he put forward in his speech on New Year's Day. The Government was at its wits' ends for money for the war; the Indian revenue could not supply more than a limited amount, borrowing was unpopular and undesirable, and the English Treasury was not prepared to give anything. What, then, was to be done? Make war economically; keep down General Roberts's force at an irreducible minimum; keep the transport arrangements as attenuated as possible; have the reinforcements that might never be required as small in number and as distant from the theatre of war as could possibly be contrived. Then if all went well, the Government of India could for a second time congratulate itself upon having made war not only successfully but cheaply. We know the result. General Roberts lost Kabul and the Bala Hissar, and was within an ace of having his camp forced. Those who exposed the Empire to the risk of a great catastrophe have yet to reckon with public opinion, although for the moment the good fortune of General Roberts has enabled them to claim a victory where in truth no victory has been won. But the real origin of the apparently fatuous failing which endangered our army in Afghanistan and tarnished our prestige was the necessity under which the Government was placed of carrying out cheaply a high-handed policy which striking and continuous success could alone justify. This Afghan war having been undertaken for imperial purposes, should have been adequately sustained throughout by imperial resources. Mr. Gladstone said in his Glasgow speech that the Government dare not ask the British taxpayer to contribute to the cost of this war. If that be the case, the war should not have been undertaken at all. A cheap war—a war undertaken with resources which constrain the Government to starve all its operations—cannot add to the security or to the prestige of the Empire.

The civilising mission of the British people in the East is as noble as it is arduous; it is full of difficulties from the great distance of the parts of the Empire from the Home Government and the variety of races which have come under our power. The work can, however, be well and faithfully done if only the people of England will take an intelligent interest in this country, and insist on its being governed by the same principles of justice which guide our rulers at home. Everything done therefore to interest people at home, every speech made, every article written on the affairs of India will, we are sure, lead to increased interest in Indian affairs, and will conduce to more responsible government. It may truly be said that nothing which India can do, will be a real compensation for the immense benefit which English rule has conferred upon her, but in spite of this it is in the interest of the Empire that she should not be called upon for more than her share of imperial burdens. The interests of India are the interests of the Empire; if she is made discontented by the withdrawal of rights which British subjects everywhere else enjoy, and which she has used, and not abused, for half a century, or if she is harassed by unsuitable and inequitable taxation, in order that the wars of the Empire may be carried on, without touching the pockets of the richest portion of her people, it is not India alone that will suffer but the whole Empire. Dr. Hunter has been telling the English people what England has done for the benefit of India; Mr. Gladstone has been telling them what she has done to India's detriment. What Dr. Hunter claims, and rightly, to her credit, is what was done by Indian administrators, acting not for party or for any special interest for the good of the country. What Mr. Gladstone condemns was done contrary to the wish of the Indian-taught portion of the administration, and in some instances in spite of their protest. We have no fear for India if her Government is left in the hands of the class who have made her what she is. The danger lies in the transfer of this Government to an office in London where the rights of the people here may be subordinated to other interests. Take only one subject, that of communication; we believe that the Supreme Government at Calcutta are fully alive to the necessity of opening up the country by railways, and would push those communications; but the order has come from the Secretary of State restricting the amount to be spent yearly, and thus compelling the stoppage of the most needed and most promising works. This can only be remedied when the British people become thoroughly acquainted with Indian affairs. Whatever, therefore, may be our views of the special charges brought against the present Government by Mr. Gladstone, we welcome everything which brings India and Indian matters prominently

LATEST INTELLIGENCE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LATEST FROM KABUL.

MORE FIGHTING EXPECTED.

KABUL, THRO' GANDAMAK, DEC. 30.

All quiet. General Baker, with 1,500 rifles, is out some ten miles in the Kohistan direction, looking after the villages in which insurgents are reported to be harboured. He has five days' supplies. Fatigue parties have been sent out to try and recover those bodies which fell into the enemies' hands on Sunday the 13th, and were successful. The bodies of Captains Hardy, Spens, and Forbes have been found.

One of our mountain guns was found in the city, and hopes are entertained that the other will soon be found.

It is reported that the force from Ghazni has not dispersed, but is at present in some villages 20 miles in the Ghazni direction. More severe fighting in the course of a few weeks is confidently predicted.

Mr. Lake is working hard repairing the field telegraphs, fifty miles of which were entirely destroyed.

During the late fighting the enemy were most successful in stopping most of the private or special daks, hardly a single letter getting through to Gandamak for a week. The mail bags were detained at Sherpur by orders for sixteen days, it being impracticable to get them through.

ATTACK ON A RECONNOITRING PARTY.

ALLAHABAD, JAN. 8.

KABUL, Dec. 31.—On the 29th Asmutullah Khan, with a large body of Lugmans, attacked a party sent out to reconnoitre by Colonel Norman from Jagdalak. One hundred and sixty sepoys of the 24th Regiment held the Kotal, but the enemy showed such strength that all available men had to support the party attacked. At noon Colonel Norman received a telegram saying that three companies of the 51st Foot, 360 of the 45th Sikhs, and four guns, were on their way to render assistance. Colonel Norman awaited the arrival, as he was unable to attack vigorously with the force at his command. They did not arrive until four in the evening, by which time the enemy were driven back from near the hills. The Hazara Mountain Battery were shelling splendidly until reinforcements extended Colonel Norman's right flank. The Lugmans retired rapidly, and at sunset they were out of sight Lieutenant Wright, of the Royal Artillery, was killed by a rifle bullet, a gunner of the Hazara Mountain Battery was killed and one man of the 51st Foot slightly wounded.

The Lugman chiefs joined Asmutullah Khan as well as Hassan Khan, our late Governor of Jallalabad. The Lugmans cannot be dispersed from Jagdalak, as they retire from one range of hills to another, returning when our troops are withdrawn. Four hundred men of the 24th Regiment and two guns are at Lattabund and wing of the 45th at Sei Baba. Eighty sowars and the 10th Bengal Lancers are also at these two posts for patrol work.

Sir Michael Kennedy leaves Sherpur for India to-morrow.

The 14th Bengal Lancers are starting for Butkhak. Musajan Muskialam is now reported at Dadamushk, twelve miles from Ghazni.

The Afghans proved to have shared in the late rising will be executed as rebels when captured.

KABUL, Jan. 1.—The Bala Hissar is garrisoned to-day by General Gough's brigade. The forts and villages about Sherpur are now mostly demolished. Circular roads broad enough for guns are under construction round Sherpur. Two other roads, one from headquarters gate and another from the 72nd gate, in the western and southern walls respectively, will cut straight to the Kabul gorge through Dehafghan. This will enable the force to bar any way to Kabul from the Chardeh direction to the northern slope of the Bemaru hills, which will be scarped and all trenches strengthened.

Mahomed Jan is reported as getting sixteen guns ready for a second visit to Sherpur.

Our Cavalry Brigade will be lessened during the winter by the 12th Bengal Cavalry and the 15th Bengal Lancers being sent down the line towards Gandamak.

Our store of bhoosa is not enough. An expedition to Jagdalak is said to have been decided upon to punish Asmutullah Khan and the chiefs who joined him.

The road from Kabul to Gandamak is now reported safe.

KABUL, Jan. 2.—A convoy of sick and wounded started for Peshawur on the 5th. Eight hundred men, including followers, are now in hospital under treatment.

Padsha Khan reports himself anxious to come in, and says he never intended to join the attack against Sherpur, although he was present with followers and was given important command when the assault was planned; but Mahomed Jan and other chiefs mistrusted him, and the command was taken from him. Such a statement may be a mere fabrication, and our stronger policy would be to refuse to receive him. His treachery, after being so heavily subsidized, deserves exemplary punishment.

RAWUL PINDI, Jan. 5.—Captain Conolly, Political Officer at Peiwar, has been warned that his troops there should expect an attack.

General Tytler arrives here on the 7th instant ten days' leave. The valley is probably quiet.

The 8th Hussars arrive here to-day.

The movement of the 10th Hussars to Umballa has been countermanded. Gun ammunition at Kabul is scarce.

A private letter says that Captain Hardy was killed while cutting traces, and twenty horses of that battery were also killed.

The troops are sickly at Thull. Pneumonia prevails in the 29th Regiment.

WE have been requested to state that in consequence of the ball to be given at Government House on the 23rd instant, the garden party for which invitations have been issued for that date will not take place.

SIR RICHARD TEMPLE, accompanied by Captain Dean-Pitt, A. D. C., yesterday morning inspected the works of the new Borce Bunder station of the G. I. P. Railway, which are in progress.

ALL friends of our Indian empire will learn with satisfaction, says the Whitehall Review, that a Royal Duke will most strongly oppose the proposal for the establishment of a local army for India, and that he will meet with the strong support of nearly all our best known Indian commanders, among whom there appears to exist a remarkable unanimity as to the utter hopelessness of maintaining a purely local army at that high standard of officering which is absolutely necessary in the interests of the native forces. A madder suggestion was perhaps never put forward than that which is said to have emanated from the Simla Committee.

SIR SAMUEL BAKER, accompanied by Lady Baker, has arrived in Bombay from Poona.

WE hear by telegram that a railway guard, named Reuben Alexander, was accidentally shot dead by a Volunteer's rifle at the range at Cawnpore.

A CORRESPONDENT, who signs himself "Paunch,"—an old Rugbeian,—writes to the Madras Mail about Sir Richard Temple's schooldays:—During my time, no boy attained such honor within the precincts of Rugby: he certainly never got a Balliol scholarship like old Bradley, for the simple reason, that having been presented with a writership, his line of country did not go through Oxford: but if ever there was a Latin poet it was Temple. At twelve years of age, he would do three separate pieces of Latin composition, called vulgus, of four lines in each; one of which he would keep himself, and give the others to two big fellows in the same form, who were too lazy to exert themselves; this would happen three times a week, and the extraordinary part of these performances was, that no one was like its neighbours, but presented fresh ideas, and changes of thought. These verses he would dash off almost as quickly as he could write them. Before he had got into the sixth form, he competed for the fifth form prize, which had to be of 500 lines: he succeeded. Though my study was the next to Temple's, I did not even know he was trying for this prize; his cricket, his bathing, his other sports, all went on as usual; and the first I ever heard of Temple and the fifth form prize was, that Dr. Arnold had read it out with much unction, before the members of the sixth form, up in the library. I am not aware of a similar instance having taken place, either before or since, for the composition of a fifth form boy to be read out as a pattern to those of the sixth. In conclusion Temple was detained at Rugby after he had got his writership at the express wish of the masters, who did not like to lose so brilliant a star. I believe he carried off every prize for which he competed at Haileybury, but of this I am not sure.

THUS writes "Aristarchus" in the Whitehall Review:—I have the very highest authority for saying that, in the event of complications arising between England and Russia with regard to the solution of the Central Asian problem, Persia would be on the side of Her Majesty. Some doubt has been thrown upon the loyalty of the Shah from time to time, and various sinister motives and intentions have been ascribed to him of a character unfavourable to the Indian Empire. It is in my power to say that a most perfect understanding exists between the Governments of Teheran and London. The Shah will offer no kind of aid to the advance of Russia in the direction of India, and is moreover prepared to resist any hostile demonstration against Persian territory. I have authority to state that no reinforcements of troops will be despatched from England to Afghanistan. The report that 5,000 had been asked for by the Indian Government is quite without foundation. Lord Lytton feels himself strong enough to sweep Afghanistan and to smite King Cheshai hip and thigh, without asking for a single company from home. I have the very best ground for stating that it is highly improbable that the Government will entertain for a moment the idea of removing Lord Dufferin from St. Petersburg to Calcutta on Lord Lytton's return to England next year.

A GREAT deal of discontent, the Pioneer says, has been created by the action of the Commander-in-Chief in sending the 2-14th Regiment to the front, whilst the 2nd Queens, the 63rd, the 65th, and the 73rd,—perhaps other regiments could be added to the list,—are better entitled to go. The 63rd is now and has been for a year past, a very healthy battalion, over 1,000 strong, and of nine years' service in the country. The 65th is, we believe, of about the same strength and in a first-rate state of health. Why should such regiments be passed over? The recognized procedure at home is to employ regiments on active service in proper turn, provided no reasons exist to justify a departure from the rule. The Commander-in-Chief's disregard of this procedure in the present case is described as quite unintelligible—except on grounds of personal favouritism—and is the subject of very sharp animadversion in the army.

A WRITER in the Englishman has observed the native troops proceeding to the front wearing the "puttees" given them to keep their legs warm tied round their heads instead of round their calves, the reason being that the thin pieces of tape very badly stitched on to the "puttees," which were intended to keep them in position on the men's legs, were altogether insufficient for the purpose. The writer indignantly asks whether, in lieu of sending men to the front with the puttees bandaged to the leg by a piece of white tape suited to a lady's petticoat, it might not have struck the intelligent commissariat officer who despatched the men, that a binder of the same material a full inch broad and strongly sewn for at least two inches to the puttee, would have been a better expedient.

THE Allahabad paper says the despatch by the Secretary of State on the disestablishment of the late Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce comes as near being a direct condemnation of the policy pursued in this matter by the Government of India, as a Secretary of State unwilling to quarrel with the Indian authorities outright over the matter, could be expected to go. "Indeed we have reason to know that a despatch was sent under date October the 28th, and this despatch, which was in reply to the first letter from the Government of India announcing the abolition of the department, put the Secretary of State's views in a still stronger light. The present despatch is in answer to a second letter by the Government of India explaining the arrangements made to carry on the work of the disestablished department, and its publication by itself, while the previous despatch on the principle of the change is suppressed, is a proceeding which must be deprecated by everyone who has a taste for thoroughly straight-forward dealing."

WE learn that the leading Khoja merchants of Bombay have promoted a fund among themselves for the support of destitute famine emigrants, of their community, from other parts of the presidency. About Rs. 10,000 have already been raised, and the fund promises to run up to a considerable sum.

A CALCUTTA paper understands that further orders have recently been issued from the Head-Quarters to the Deputy Commissary-General, Lower Circle, to purchase as many country ponies and mules within his circle as may be procurable for transport service at the front, and to communicate with the several district civil officers, requesting them to aid the executive commissariat officers in attaining the object in view.

THE summary of the reports on the weather and crops in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh for the week ended the 31st December says:—"Rain wanted in places; prospects generally good."

THE Englishman mentions "a curious case in the suburbs (of Calcutta), in which a native gentleman, an amateur homœopathic practitioner, has been charged with manslaughter for giving arsenic to a cholera patient, from the effects of which the man died."

IT is stated that the finances of the Calcutta Municipality are now in quite a flourishing condition. At the end of 1879 there was a balance of nearly half a lakh of rupees in hand, after paying off the debts and deficits of the two previous years and all current expenses.

BABOO KESHUB CHUNDER SEN promises to deliver an anniversary lecture at Calcutta on the 24th instant. He is also proposing to organize "an expeditionary movement on a large scale."

WE (Indian Herald) are informed on the best authority—an eye-witness—that subordinates of the Government in the Mainpuri district, near Agra, are forcibly taking Kahars away from their homes for the purpose of proceeding to the front. If the Government can obtain no other means of transport, and if the existence of our army at Kabul depends on it, it would be much better to openly obtain forced labour than to get Tehsildars, and their myrmidons to do very dirty work; which may, moreover, lead the public to believe, at any rate, the agricultural public, that their superiors connive at their acts, but avoid direct responsibility. It would be much better to inform the natives in an honest and straightforward manner, that Government is obliged to force labour, much "against its principles and inclination, and then all doubt would be removed as to subordinates' authority.

HIS EXCELLENCY the Viceroy and suite visited Chandernagore on Sunday afternoon. The Viceregal party steamed up the river from Barrackpore. Lord Lytton was received with much attention on landing. His Excellency drove round the town, and then paid a short visit to the Governor of the Settlement, returning to Barrackpore by steamer in the evening.

SOME "explanations" regarding the Naga campaign have been furnished to the Englishman, who writes:—"With respect to the delay that intervened between the relief of Kohima and the attack on Konoma, we have before us conclusive evidence that, the Manipuris notwithstanding, greater expedition would have been impossible. The province had most unwisely been almost completely denuded of regular troops by the withdrawal of the 44th N. I., when the outrage at Konoma took place. Fortunately the 44th had only reached Goalando, from which place they were at once sent back, reaching Golaghat about the 1st November. Notwithstanding every effort, however, such difficulty was experienced in obtaining the necessary transport and supplies in a hurry, that the regiment had to be sent on in two or three parties, and five weeks thus elapsed before the men were at the front ready for the work out out for them. As regards the assertion that the Manipuris might have been used for the attack at an earlier period, we are assured by those who are in a position to form an opinion that this is a complete misconception. * * * The Manipuris are not even their own officers admitted, in too sickly a state to be employed with safety in any duties entailing much responsibility, and moreover they had been lent for the relief of Kohima on a promise that they should be sent back, as soon as possible, to allow of their cutting their crops. So completely were these levies broken down by sickness that the officer in charge himself stated that only 200 Kukis could be sent to aid in the attack on Konoma. We are further assured, not only that there were trained artillerists with the force when it attacked Konoma, but that the guns were well handled; and if they did not do much damage, this was entirely due to their being of insufficient calibre for use against stone walls of the thickness of those of which the defences consisted."

THE Rampa rebels still flourish. Jampa Pandish, one of the chief rebels, who was some time ago captured, and put into prison, has, through the carelessness of the prison guard, made his escape with three other prisoners. A large reward has been offered for his re-capture, and steps are being taken by the police to track him. On the 9th ultimo, 200 men belonging to Chendriah's gang attacked and looted a village called Ungaloor Agram. They tied and severely beat the village headmen.

A MADRAS paper states that Brigadier-General W. A. Gib, commanding the Madras Brigade in the north, has been ordered to proceed to Peahswur to assume command of the reserve field division.

THE Duke of Buckingham and Chandos has postponed his tour to Nellore and Rajahmundry.

IN order to multiply and strengthen relations with Egypt, the Russian Steam Company intends starting a regular weekly steamer from Odessa to Alexandria, which will always touch at Constantinople, and will usually call at Syria and Smyrna. The same company has made arrangements with the South Russian railway lines and some foreign ones concerning direct communication with the ports of China and India. The Nove Vremya states that agents of Russian cotton merchants are constantly repairing to Egypt in order to buy or farm plantations, and that thus Egypt is likely to become the field of keen competition between the English and the Russians.

THE report of the liquidators of the City of Glasgow Bank has been issued. It is very full and clear. The liquidators state that they have obtained £4,856,666 from the sale of the bank's assets, and £4,452,366 from calls on contributories. This makes £9,309,032, all of which, save £151,161 in hand, has been paid to the creditors. Liquidation charges up to date have been £100,983. The liquidators estimate that from the remaining assets £2,829,771 is recoverable, and from remaining contributories, £1,479,164. This, therefore, gives £4,308,935 as the estimated further available assets of the bank; and as the total further liabilities are £3,840,637, there is a surplus on paper of £468,298. This surplus is, however, subject to a claim for interest estimated at £385,000 and to the further cost of liquidation, and in course of realization it might more than disappear. Up till now the progress of the liquidation has been remarkably rapid, and the liquidators hope soon to make a further payment to the creditors, perhaps bringing the total amount returned to them up to 15s. in the £1; but in future the progress must be much slower and the liquidation protracted. In these circumstances, and seeing that so much has been done as well as suffered by the partners of the bank, it would seem a wise policy on the part of the creditors to try and come to a speedy compromise for the balance of their debts. Were they to be paid the principal in full at an early date on condition that they surrendered the interest due, their share in this disastrous business might be soon ended. All danger of further calls to meet costs might likewise be obviated, and the liquidators enabled to proceed uninterruptedly with the realization of the remaining assets.

IT has been much remarked, says the Whitehall Review, that Lord William Beresford's name was omitted from the Zulu Gazette the other day, for everybody believed that he would have got a brevet-majority. Perhaps the following extract from the letter of an official attached to the Vice-Regal Court will explain why his Lordship was passed over:—

"If Billie Beresford does not get his brevet for his services in Zululand he will, I believe, be recommended for a step of rank when Lord Lytton returns to England. It is a usual thing for a retiring Viceroy and Commander-in-Chief to bring a relative his senior aide-de-camp. Billie Beresford occupies the senior position among Lord Lytton's A.D.C.'s, and it is scarcely probable that he will be allowed to pass unrewarded next year when his chief is handing over the reins of government. No one would grudge Billie Beresford any honour, for he is a sterling good fellow, as all admit who know him, and he well deserves this mark of favour, not alone on account of his military achievements.

THE English public has been reminded of the existence of the Tichborne claimant. It may be remembered that the "unhappy nobleman" was sent to prison for two terms of seven years each, on separate indictments for perjury. Of these, terms one will have expired in about a twelve-month hence. A doubt has been raised whether it was strictly legal on the part of the judge—the late Chief Justice, Sir Justice Mellor, and Mr. Justice Lush—to make the sentences cumulative. Apparently, the Attorney-General is by no means certain on the point, since he has advised that a writ of error shall be granted. The case will, therefore, be argued in due course, but it will be simply a dry legal disputation, and none of the romantic incidents of the original trial will be re-opened.

PRINCE GORTSCHAKOFF'S proposal to the effect that a fresh Conference of Ambassadors of the Great Powers should be held to confirm the decisions of the Commission appointed for the delimitation of frontiers in the Balkan peninsula has not been favourably received by the other Governments. Those Governments consider that there is no occasion for a fresh Conference, and have accordingly declined the Russian proposal.

SAYS "Atlas":—It is the intention of the Empress Eugenie so to time her visit to Zululand that she may be on the spot where her son met his death on the anniversary of that sad event, the 1st day of June. Lieutenant Carey will not be detailed as the escort of the illustrious lady in that sad pilgrimage. I understand that this sombre duty will be devolved upon Sir Evelyn Wood, for whom poor Prince Louis had conceived a great regard during the latter's short career in Zululand. Apart from this, however, Sir Evelyn labours under certain disadvantages in acting as cicerone to the Empress, since he was not present at the discovery of the poor Prince's body, nor, in fact, did he see the Prince alive or dead after the latter left the Kambula camp before the invasion march began.

POONA COOLIES FOR KANDAHAR.—On Wednesday, by the 11 a. m. train, about two hundred and fifty dooly bearers who have been enlisted by the Commissariat Department for service into Poona for Bombay en route to Kandahar. They will embark here for Kurrachee and will be sent from thence to Kandahar.

A MANUFACTURER OF FORGED NOTES.—A Mahomedan, named Serafeddin, a manufacturer of forged currency notes, was arrested at Ahmedabad a few days ago. He has been sentenced to seven years' imprisonment, and to pay a fine of Rs. 2,500, with the alternative of additional imprisonment for a year and a half.

THE ROOKMINIBAI DISPENSARY AT CALLIAN.—During the month of December last 491 patients were treated in this charitable institution, of whom 440 were new admissions (including 2 indoor patients), of which 432 were cured, 78 absented, 2 died, and 69 are still under treatment. This includes 51 remaining from last month.

"MOOKHTEARS" IN LAW COURTS.—Mookhtears, or law agents of an inferior rank, have been prevented for sometime past from practising in the courts of the City Magistrate and Mamlatdar in Surat. They presented a petition praying to be admitted to practise again, and the present District Magistrate and Collector, Mr. Looh, has granted their application.

THE 4TH RIFLES.—Major General Primrose C. B. I., Commanding the Poona Division, inspected the 4th Regiment N I (or Rifle Corps) on Wednesday morning on their regimental parade ground, and, the local paper says, was perfectly satisfied with the appearance of the regiment. This regiment arrived at Bombay from Poona by two special trains yesterday, and leaves for Karrachee to-day.

DACOITY.—Eight men have been found guilty at the Poona Sessions of committing dacoity on the 23rd November at the village of Multan, Taluka Shimthuri, and murderously assaulting a servant who subsequently died from the injuries he received. Six of the prisoners were sentenced to transportation for their natural lives, and the other two were sentenced each to three years' rigorous imprisonment.

AN UNPROTECTED GIRL.—Sir Frank Souter, as Commissioner of Police, has a precious charge thrust upon him—a Hindu girl, twelve years of age, who was brought by railway from Hyderabad to the Byculla station and left there unprotected. It is stated that she was decoyed from the residence of her parents by a woman who, on arriving with her at the Byculla station, discovered that enquiries were being made regarding the girl. Leaving her, therefore, at the station, the woman bolted to escape being arrested by the police.

SALE OF THE 'COLABA SPINNING AND WEAVING MILLS.—Mr. Justice Bayley had fixed yesterday for the hearing of any objections that creditors or shareholders might have to make to the confirmation by the court of a private contract entered into by the official liquidators for the sale of the Colaba Spinning and Weaving Mills to Mr. Nusserwanjee Manockjee Petit for the sum of Rs. 5,15,000. Mr. Latham, instructed by Messrs. Ardasir and Hormusjee, appeared for the official liquidators in support of the sale. Mr. Starling, instructed by Messrs. Macfarlane and Gilbert, appeared on behalf of Mr. John Gordon to oppose it, asking that the matter should be heard as soon as possible. On Mr. Latham's application, it was postponed until Monday next.

MAZAGON MANUFACTU RING COMPANY.—An extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the company was held yesterday at 30, Elphinstone Circle, to take their opinion as to what should be done with the company's property which has not been transferred to Government. Mr. Kaswejee Nalk was in the chair. Mr. J ohn Gordon, the secretary, having read the notice convening the meeting, explained the object for which it had been called. He said the property remaining was as follows:—A cotton spinning and a press building, with 20,000 square yards of ground, which would be very useful for a factory or for a spinning and weaving mill and for which Rs. 100 a month were payable to Government as rent for 99 years. The second piece contained 17,996 square yards of hilly ground, for chawls built upon a portion of which they got Rs. 60 a month, and which was admirably adapted for reclamation purposes and the third was the ground of the Mazagon Spinning and Weaving Company's site, for which they got Rs. 50 a month. This was all the company's property; and if it was disposed of, the company would cease to exist. Out of eighteen lakhs, Government had paid them four per cent bonds for twelve lakhs, out of which the company's total debts amounting to nine and a half lakhs had been paid off. The remaining six lakhs would be paid by Government hereafter. After a slight discussion, it was proposed by Mr. Lukhmishankar Bariperad, seconded by Mr. C. W. L. Jackson, and resolved, "That it is the opinion of the meeting that all the property of the company should be sold and converted into cash with the least possible delay, and that the directors be requested and authorised to do so." It was also resolved "that the directors be requested to call another meeting for the purpose of putting the company into voluntary liquidation and for the appointment of a liquidator or liquidators." The proceedings closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

VOLUNTEER CLASS FIRING AT POONA.—No. 5 section H Company completed their annual course of musketry on Saturday morning last, Lieut. G. Peaker, superintending. The following is the result:—

PONIES FOR THE FRONT.—We hear that the Collector of Poona has succeeded in getting a large number of tattoos for the use of the Transport Department, Afghanistan, and that they are being now despatched to the front. As the natives say, but it is more probable that they will be sent to the Kandahar line of transport.—Deccan Herald.

CHOLERA IN POONA.—We are glad to state that cholera is abating in the city of Poona, and that yesterday there were fewer cases. Doubtless the abatement is due to the energetic measures taken by Dr. Bruce and other officers. The cholera has been chiefly confined to the Mahars and Maratha communities, and it is thought that the numerous jattras, weddings, &c., have, together with the crude fruit, &c., caused the outbreak to be so virulent. Five assistant apothecaries are now at work and are at all times ready to give medicines to the people. We hear that the Katraj water has been found quite wholesome, and has had nothing to do with the cholera. Careful precautions are taken to prevent the disease from spreading to the cantonments, and, as it is abating in the city, we may hope that it will not come into camp. It will probably decline as rapidly as it has increased.—Deccan Herald, Jan. 8.

Political speeches have been delivered by Mr. Bond, M.P., at Greenock, Mr. Raikes, M.P., at Chester, Sir W. Lawson, M.P., at Carlisle, Mr. G. O. Bentinck, M.P., at Whitehaven, and Mr. Dodson, M.P., at Lewes.

The Duchess of Marlborough, wife of the Viceroy of Ireland, has addressed through the columns of The Times an appeal to the benevolence of the British public for contributions for the relief of distress existing in some portions of that country.

Colonel Stanley, Minister for War, distributed on Friday prizes to the successful competitors of the Liverpool Volunteer Rifle Brigade, and expressed his satisfaction with the increasing number of efficient members in the Volunteer force.

Lord Rayleigh has been elected Professor of Experimental Physics at Cambridge, in place of the late Professor Clerk Maxwell.

In the Arches Court, on Saturday, a charge against the Rev. Charles Miller, vicar of Harlow, for habits of intoxication, was found by Lord Penzance to have been proved. The sentence upon the defendant, who was stated to be 53 years of age, was postponed.

Sentence of 12 months' imprisonment has been passed upon Severin Bastendorff, who was convicted at the Central Criminal Court of perjury.

Edward Froggett, lately a solicitor, was sentenced to five years' penal servitude for misappropriating trust money.

The Court of Appeal has refused to grant a new trial or to stay execution in the action brought by Dr. Phillips against the London and South-Western Railway, and in whose favour a verdict for £16,000 has been returned on account of severe injuries sustained in a collision on that line.

A man named O'Shea, an evicted tenant, violently assaulted Lord Fermoy in Limerick, and at the Assizes, pleading guilty, he was sentenced to five years' penal servitude.

The liquidators of the City of Glasgow Bank have issued their report, which shows that 39,309,032 has been received, and nearly the whole amount paid to creditors. It is estimated that £4,300,000 more will be recovered—sufficient to pay the debts in full.

The Attorney-General has granted his fiat for a writ of error in the case of the Tichborne claimant, to test a question that has been raised as to the legality of the two separate sentences of seven years' penal servitude passed upon Arthur Orton.

A party of returned Russian emigrants from Brazil, numbering 91 persons, have arrived at Southampton in a state of destitution, and are now being maintained at the expense of the ratepayers of that town, and an appeal has been made by the Mayor to the Local Government Board for the assistance of the Government to enable these people to return to Russia.

The Orient, new steamer has arrived at Adelaide making the passage from Plymouth under 38 days, the shortest time on record.

Land meetings continue to be held in Ireland, and strong language was used by the various speakers, but they have not been attended with violence. Threatening notices and assaults in connexion with land questions are reported from many places.

The directors of the London and Westminster Bank have determined to recommend to the shareholders that the company be registered as of limited liability.

Money has been in tolerably good demand this week, and, with a smaller supply of floating capital, rates have as a rule been firmer. As regards the stock-markets, however, the tendency has in the greater number of cases been flat, and although the values of a very few descriptions rallied slightly towards the close, the final prices were almost the lowest. Consols were rather unsettled until Wednesday night, but since then have been somewhat steadier, closing at 97, sellers, for money.

Moore, C.B.; Vice-Admiral Pelre; the Hon. W. H. Pope, Judge at Prince Edward's Island; Lady Emma Wood; Lady Boughey; the Hon. Mrs. Evans; J. R. Napier, F.R.S.; the Rev. R. W. Whitford, late Chaplain at Madras.

Telegraphic news has been received from Cape Town up to Nov. 25. The stronghold of Moiros, the hostile Basuto chief, has been successfully stormed by the Colonial forces, under Colonel Bayley. The chief was killed, and no further trouble is expected in that quarter. The preparations for attacking Secocoeni were completed, and the assault upon his position was to be made on the 28th of November.

In the French Chamber on Tuesday, the question of a plenary amnesty was again raised by M. Lockroy by an interpellation of the Government. M. Le Royer justified the action of the Government, declaring that the convicts excluded from pardon had been guilty of assassination and other crimes. M. Clemenceau made a speech violently hostile to the Government, but upon a division his resolution of censure was rejected by 346 to 100. It is still doubted whether the present Ministry will remain much longer in office. The weather in Paris has continued to be unusually severe.

The German Federal Council has adopted a Bill fixing the quotation of the German Reichstag at four years, and providing that the Budget for the Empire shall only be presented every two years.

The Porte has issued a proclamation to the Albanians, calling upon them to desist from opposing the occupation of the Gusinje district by the Montenegrin troops, in accordance with the stipulations of the Treaty of Berlin.

The condition of political affairs at Madrid is still very unsatisfactory. The new Cabinet is endeavouring, but hitherto without success, to induce the members of the Opposition to resume their seats in the Chamber; but these latter refuse to do so, alleging that Senor Canovas had been guilty of a breach of privilege in refusing to reply to an interpellation.

The reception of General Grant at Philadelphia is described as having been the grandest pageant ever witnessed in the United States.

The Colonial Treasurer of New South Wales made his financial statement to the Legislative Assembly, at Sydney, on Wednesday. He admitted that the receipts had not reached the estimated amount, but stated that the finances were in a thoroughly sound condition, and it had not been found necessary to issue any portion of the last-sanctioned loan.

OPINIONS OF THE INDIAN PRESS ON THE VICEROY'S SPEECH.

(Indian Daily News, Jan. 6.)

WE are driven to the conclusion the Government has never yet comprehended the character of the task before it in Afghanistan, and in defence of this opinion, we are, in justice to the Government and the public, under the necessity of scrutinising the facts of the campaign as the speech reports them. To begin with, we are told, "the crime of Cabul has been avenged, the outrage has been expiated." And accordingly it was intended to levy a heavy fine on the city, and that that intention was promulgated to the city and the world, and considering that Sir F. Roberts has not up to this time, four months after the crime was perpetrated, found himself in a position to levy that punitory fine, we think we may fairly demur to the statement that the outrage "has been avenged and speedily avenged," even without reminding our readers that the man who plotted the crime and carried it out is still at large, and in a position to put the military resources of India to a strain they have not felt for 40 years. There has never been any difficulty about supplies at Cabul. As soon as General Roberts reached Kushi, supplies came in. Within less than a week of or the evacuation of the city by the Afghans on October 8th, supplies poured in to such an extent that the General had to borrow funds from the principal men of the city in order to purchase all that was offered, and this although he never exercised authority save in the city itself. In less than six weeks he had accumulated supplies for his force of 7,500 men for five months. Then, no sooner do the Afghans retire from the city after the advance of General C. Gough, than supplies again begin to pour in. Before the Government could denounce, on the ground of a possible want of supplies, the recommendation to double Sir F. Roberts' force, it ought to show that it had information that the Cabul district could not support a larger force than 7,500 men, and ought to account for the fact that the Afghans in a strength of 30,000 men, according to General Roberts, shut him up from supplies for a fortnight, and then did not break up because they were themselves in want of food, but because they were uncertain as to the strength of the advancing British reinforcements. Again, at the Peiwar on December 2nd, 1878, General Roberts took 3,181 men into action. At Charasiab, on October 6th, 1879, he began the action with
